On Holy Thursday evening we commemorate the supper Jesus shared with his disciples before his betrayal, arrest, condemnation, and crucifixion. The alternative title for this day, "Maundy Thursday", is derived from the Latin word for commandment (mandatum) and recalls the words of Jesus in giving a "new commandment" (mandatum novum) in John 13:34.

Paul refers in I Cor. 5:7 to Jesus as "our paschal lamb" - a reference to the animal sacrificed to make possible the Hebrews' deliverance from death and slavery in Egypt ("paschal" coming from the Hebrew pesach, meaning "deliverance" or "passover"). Christ is thus understood as the one who, by his self-offering, makes possible our own deliverance from slavery to sin and death.
